

Whenever you need us, we're there for you

The death of a beloved pet is always a painful loss. The road shared together is often very long. It is therefore only natural to want to bid your companion a dignified farewell.

The question suddenly arises: What is the appropriate way? One has to decide what is to be done with the departed pet.

We are there to help you during this difficult time by organising everything required.

Take the opportunity to give your pet a dignified departure.

If your pet passed away at home, call us. We'll come and discuss everything with you and transfer your pet to the Pet Cremation Centre Im Rosengarten, Badbergen. There we will make the necessary arrangements for your pet.

If the death took place at a veterinary surgery or animal hospital, please inform them that you wish to have your pet cremated by us. Ask them to inform us or get in touch with us personally so that we can arrange the transfer. We will gladly discuss your cremation preferences and answer all your questions.

We will provide personal advice and make all preliminary arrangements for the cremation. Take advantage of our experience in the reverent care of deceased pets.

Sincerely
Your
Rosengarten Team

The Pet Cremation Centre Im Rosengarten

Badbergen is located at the heart of the magnificent Artland to the north of Osnabrück, Lower Saxony. There, surrounded by fields, meadows and woods, lay the historic farm buildings which are now the Pet Cremation Centre Im Rosengarten, run by the Niefeld family.

Whether or not a traditional burial is a viable option depends not only on personal motivation but also on the domestic situation and official regulations. Here, cremation is a realistic alternative.

In an individual cremation your pet is cremated separately. The only remains are your pet's ashes which can be kept in a decorative urn of your choice.

In a collective cremation, your pet is cremated collectively with others and the ashes are scattered over the Rosengarten's meadow.

All procedures applied by the Pet Crematorium Im Rosengarten have been successfully certified through a quality management system by DEKRA Certification GmbH. This system is monitored annually by DEKRA.
